We went to FBI Wembley last night and it was really nice. Good atmosphere, clean, really friendly nice staff. The food was really good. We extended the voucher and had an antipasti board and bought some wine.

The toy room was also very clean, and full of toys along with comfortable chairs and a TV. It was glassed on 2 sides so you could see in and if you mentioned you were bringing a child they will seat you close to the room to make it easier for you. Also had lots of high chairs etc.

We were the only ones there for about 20 minutes or so and by 7 the place was really starting to fill up. It is, by the way, a family run business.

The only criticism I could find was that the girls were not proactive in keeping the water bottles on the table topped up or replaced if they were empty. We tried a couple of times to get their attention but they were getting busy by that stage and we didn't push it. We will certainly go back for another go at the menu.
